

Removal.

Our friends Gray & Todd have moved from their former stand in the old Bank to the new and commodious building they have erected on the corner of Main and Louis-streets. Every thing is arranged very tastefully indeed, and without doubt, it is one of the handsomest store-rooms we have ever seen. Their new supplies have been received, and they will be happy to see all of their friends and customers at their new location. As clever gentlemen, we commend them to the public.

☞ We call the attention of every body to the advertisement of Messrs. Forsee & Co., which appears in to-day's paper. Every body in Frankfort is acquainted with the members of the firm, and they are regular "trump cards." They keep all of the animal comforts, and the body that is distressed, can find comfort by going to Forsee's & Co's. The establishment is kept on Market-street, and there is no need of mistaking the place, for Forsee is a prominent looking personage, and the other is not small. Go and see them.

The junior of the Frankfort Yeoman has been presented with a pen-knife (one of Barlow's best). It affords us pleasure to announce the fact. Reynolds may congratulate himself that Conery never had a squint at us. A single glance at our phiz would have robbed him of all his honors and literally filled our pockets with all the best knives the shop affords. By the way, Loomis & Conery keep everything that is handsome at their jewelry store in Frankfort.—Louisville Times.

☞ "Oh! what some power or gift would give us To see ourselves as others see us. Fra' many a blunder 'twould free us And foolish notion."

Our friend Mooney never has had the courage to look at himself, and consequently he retains still, the idea that he got into his head a number of years ago—before he even gained the honor of being "Big Ugly." May all the saints in the calendar, defend our friend Conery from the awful infliction of looking at the local editor of the Times—if he is to be punished, let it be some other way. As for your hinting for a knife from our friend, Mooney that looks bad. He has given one knife away, and when we get to be as ugly as you are, we will surrender that one.

☞ A singular trial is now in progress in one of the Providence, Rhode Island, courts. Sometime since, a young lawyer of Providence was detected at the Marlboro' Hotel, in Boston, dressed in woman's clothes. His female wardrobe—a very valuable one, valued at some hundreds of dollars—was taken from him and given into the hands of a Providence policeman, who was to give it to the lawyer's wife. She being away from the place, it was not done, and the owner has had the officer arrested for theft, in keeping the clothes from him. An amusing list of this clothing was published in one of the Providence papers a few days ago, which showed a very extensive female outfit. The case is exciting much interest, as the gentleman, besides being a married man, is a church member, Sunday school teacher, &c.

HAVANA NEWS.—By the United States Mail Steamship Cahawba, we have Havana dates to the 12th inst. There is no news of marked interest. The health of the city is improving, the mortality having decreased to its usual average. Those unaccustomed are counseled, however, not to visit Havana, to remain, until the first of October. The accounts from the interior of the island are generally very favorable to the planter; the growing crops fine, the rains equally distributed, and no sickness to interfere with the light labors of the season.

Preparation was being made for the arrival of General Concha, which would take place probably in three or four days. General Pezuella took the initiative in the matter, and subscribed 17,000 dollars, toward the expenses—and had approved the movement of the people, in this regard, in orders. The late excitement among the troops at Matanzas, Trinidad and the fortification of Cabanas, opposite the city of Havana, had subsided.

☞ The Covington and Lexington Railroad Company, we see, have a new Conductor on the express train. Mr. Woodall, the gentleman to whom we refer, has for several years, been in the employ of the Louisville and Frankfort Railroad Company. His gentlemanly deportment and able manners, together with the experience he has as a Conductor, qualify him for the station he holds.—Cynthiana News.

We cheerfully endorse every thing said in regard to Mr. Woodall by our cotemporary. As a gentleman, frank and perfect, and as a Conductor, he is unrivalled. Any person that has been on a road that Mr. Woodall has been Conductor of, will cheerfully acknowledge his merits. Success to our friend on his new route.

Mr. ASHTON MADEIRA, of this city, has been appointed mail agent, on the route between Covington and Lexington. We regard the appointment as an excellent one.—Maysville Ea.

We had the gratification of meeting with Mr. Madeira a few days since and from our short acquaintance with him, we formed a very high opinion of him indeed, and must congratulate the company upon having the services of such a man as mail agent.

STAGE ACCIDENT.—On Thursday morning last as an extra stage for Lexington, containing the family of Mr. A. Brothers, of New Orleans, was leaving Danville, the horses became frightened at a drove of hogs, ran off, and in attempting to make the turn at the corner of Third and Lexington streets, upset the stage. The fore wheels became unfurnished from the remainder of the vehicle, and with them the horses continued their career. Some of the inmates of the stage were thrown out by the fall. Mrs. Brothers and her nurse, and the driver, a man named Lane, were all severely, though not dangerously, injured. Mr. B. and his children, if hurt at all, were but slightly so.

AUSTRIA IN THE PRINCIPALITIES.—We know no people in Europe more deserving of sympathy than the inhabitants of the Danubian Principalities. After being plundered and outraged by the Russians, they are to be "skinned," and shot by the Austrians. In the diplomatic language of Western Europe this is called "liberating" the people of the Principalities. After reading the proclamation of the Austrian Commander (published elsewhere,) the Wallachians and Moldavians might appropriately exclaim, "Save us from such liberators." The proclamation reads very much as if the Austrians expect to make a long stay in the Principalities. Indeed, it may be more difficult to induce them to leave than it has been to convince the Russians of the impolicy of prolonging their residence.

So far, Austria, without firing a shot, has reaped substantial advantages from the war. The Turks did the fighting, and the English and French did—the looking on. Austria grasps the prize which Russia was obliged to let go. The London News candidly says:

In the victories over the Russians on the Danube, France and England have had no part. Their mighty deeds in the East may be thus enumerated: Odessa frightened; two or three forts on the Circassian coast, which the Russians had deserted or were deserting, looked into; the French and English soldiers left to die of cholera and other diseases contracted from inaction and its consequent lassitude in an unhealthy district.

And now, the Czar huris back defiance at his enemies, rejects the terms of peace which England and France authorized Austria to offer; and says he will resist to the last man before he yields to humiliating terms. The 'Eastern Question' may be settled ten years hence.—N. Y. Sun.

A CHALLENGE.—Mr. T. J. Wells, owner of the noted racer Lecompte, throws out the following challenge in the New Orleans Picayune, of the 2d inst: I will now say and forever: Lecompte will meet any horse that can be produced—Lexington particularly—over the Metairie, Mobile, or ez course, at any distance, at any time, and for any amount.

☞ The law of divorce in some of our States is very lax; but in Germany it is a much easier matter to obtain a divorce than in the United States. A letter from Germany, touching on this subject, says: "As you are probably aware, a divorce may be obtained in Germany for the most trifling cause; as, for instance, a mere disagreement. It is, in fact, a matter of pleasure, and is of every-day occurrence. In Pastor Kuntze's (Berlin) congregation alone there were, during the last year, ninety applications for divorce. To the present law upon this subject they attribute a large portion of the immorality among the people, and efforts are now making to obtain a law similar to that in England and America." A paper from one of the most distinguished German theologians on this subject will be read at the approaching general annual meeting of the German church, to be held at Frankfort-on-the-Maine, and at which I expect to be present. It has been often theoretically declared in England and America, what would be the results of a lax law on the subject of divorce, and you will recollect that there was a discussion on this subject in the British Parliament last winter. I can state what are the practical results of such a law in Germany, as this is acknowledged to be the great cause of the present immorality. In the city of Berlin, one-eighth of the children born yearly are illegitimate. In Hamburg and other cities the proportion is still larger; while Munich has the enviable superiority of swelling the proportion to one-half. This is a sufficient commentary on the practical workings of the system.

A great national cattle show is to be held under the auspices of the United States Agricultural Society, (of which the Hon. Marshall P. Wilder is the president,) to take place at Springfield, Ohio, on the 25th of October, and continue three days. It will of course be one of the greatest exhibitions of the kind ever witnessed in this country. The large amount of $6,000, in the shape of premiums for the best cattle, &c., is offered, and the competitors will not be few. It bids fair to be a great mass meeting of farmers and others interested from every State of the Union, drawing people together after the fashion of a western barbecue.

COMFORTABLE REFLECTION FOR LIQUOR DRINKERS.—As a proof of the extensive adulteration of liquor in this country, the New York Sun says that more port wine is drunk in the United States in one year, than passes through the Custom-House in ten; that more champagne is consumed in America alone than the whole champagne district produces; that cognac brandy costs four times as much in France, where it is made, as it is retailed for in our grog-shops; that the failure of the whole grape crop in Madeira produced no apparent diminution in quantity or increase in the price of wine.

☞ The condition of the stomach is of vital importance. No man, woman, or child can be healthy unless the work of digestion is regularly thorough, and vigorously performed. With three-fourths of civilized society, this is not the case. And yet the remedy is within the reach of all. Hoodland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia, will assuredly create regular and healthy action of the stomach as well as lesson the friction of machinery. Let the victim of dyspepsia or indigestion in any of its forms, try it, and we guarantee a good appetite, physical vigor, firm nerves, sound sleep by night, and increased cheerfulness by day.

From the Washington Union.

THE ABOLITION SCHEME OF DIVIDING THE UNION.—A great deal has been written about the doctrine of secession and the danger of disunion. Many grave apprehensions have been excited by previous discussions upon the doctrine. But the most formidable movement yet made in favor of the doctrine of disunion is that now progressing in the free States. While the South is perfectly quiescent—asking only that its rights shall be preserved—the North, under the lead of the abolition agitators, who have taken entire possession of one of the great parties of the free States, is now advocating and urging a project which, if successful, would certainly lead to a severance of the Union. This project contemplates the combination of the people of the North into a great sectional party against the South. To this end all other questions are made to yield. No man is, it is possible, to be elected to any office who is not the sworn foe of the South, or the bond and covenanted advocate of abolitionism. It would be madness to attempt to conceal from ourselves that this organization has not retrograded. Every day convinces us that it is on the increase. We are not without a high and a praiseworthy hope, it is true—a patriotic confidence, growing out of a fervent affection for the traditions and realities of the Union—that the conservative element is not yet extinct in the northern States; but it is not true that traitors, and knaves, and hypocrites, like Phillips, Greeney, and Sumner, and Gillette—is it not true that infidel preachers, like Phillips, contemners of law, like Beecher, and inciters to mob violence, like Parker, are at this moment wielding a fearful influence over the northern mind? Is it not true that the whole whig party of the free States has been paralyzed and terrified by these influences, until there is scarcely a living soul in that party that has nerve enough to say that the South is entitled to any other consideration than which the conqueror yields to his captive? Is it not true that when a northern Democrat raises his voice—aye, when he raises his voice in favor of a beleaguered constitution even—he is hunted like a wild beast, his character traduced, his name stained with calumny, his very manhood ridiculed and denied, until, at last, ambitious and timid men seek elevation and power by catering to a sentiment which they fear to resist? Is it not true that the pulpits of the free States ring with anathemas against the people and the institutions of the South—that maddened mobs threaten the lives of American senators, and prevent the freedom of speech, and almost of the press, in cities boasting of their especial progress and liberty? We must not be told that we are painting a picture from which the curtain should not be raised. We reply that the state of the facts requires it, and that he is craven who in such emergencies dares not speak the truth.

Where will this crusade lead us if these wrongs go on? Let the North be solidified against the South—let Congress be controlled by the sectional sentiment—let the House be carried first—then the Senate—and, finally, a President, all of them the creatures of this phrensy against the slave States—and the North has consumed the work of disunion without a whisper or an effort on the part of the South. The act that sectionalizes the North practically dissolves the Union, for no American, no patriot, will participate in a government which deprives him of his equality under the constitution adopted by and for the whole country; for with the success of sectionalism we have also the downfall of this vital element of equality. It has always been a subject for serious reflection to the statesman how much abolition will be aided by the dissolution of the Union—how far slavery will be reduced when the northern fanatics have driven the South into a position of independence—and how much the cause of Christianity will advance under a church which will be shorn in twain the moment abolition drives off the people of the slave States. Commercially, socially, and politically, the subject is well worthy of the attention of enlightened and patriotic minds. But more hereafter.

THE SNOW FLAKE.—A little flake of snow came whirling and twirling through the air; with a sigh it sorrowfully exclaimed, "Ah, why did I leave my bright home above, and seek this dark and gloomy spot?"

"Mourn not, thou little drop," spoke a bright-eyed, fair-haired child, "come to me, and I will take you to my home, where all is sunshine and gladness." Trusting the child the snow-drop fell upon her pretty lips. But alas! no sooner did the warm breath come through those lips that had tempted it to alight upon them by their beauty, than the little flake of snow became as a drop of water, and a chilling wind that was passing, caught up and bore away upon its wing, a cold and calous piece of ice.

How like the snow drop is man. Born into the world innocent and trusting, and easily led astray by the honeyed words that flow from the smile-wreathed lips of the Tempter. When he finds for the first time that he has been deceived, he laments in tears. But soon the cold and chilling winds of earth—the accumulation of misfortunes and disappointments—freeze all that was warm and merciful within him. Not being the recipient of pity, he refuses it to others.

THE BOY AND THE BRICK.—A boy hearing his father say, "Twaspast rule that would not work both ways," said, "If father applies this rule to his work, I will apply it to my play."

So setting a row of bricks, three or four inches apart, he tipped over the first, striking it with a small stone, and then he proceeded to tip over the rest.

"Well," said the boy, "each brick has knocked down his neighbor which stood next to him, only tipped one. Now I will raise one and see if he will raise his neighbor. I will see if raising one will raise all the rest." He looked in vain to see them rise.

"Here father," said the boy, "is a poor rule, 'twill not work both ways. They knocked each other down, but will not raise each other up." My son, said the father, "bricks and mankind are alike, made of clay, active in knocking each other down, but not disposed to raise each other up."

"Father," said the boy, "does the first brick represent the first Adam?" The father replied with the following moral: "When man falls they love company; but when they rise they love to stand, like yonder brick, and see others prostrate and below them."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.
The meeting to organize a Democratic association in opposition to the Know-Nothing was held this afternoon agreeable to the adjournment from Wednesday night. The hall was crowded to overflowing, and a large number were outside. Messrs. Florence and Carrigan, of Philadelphia, and Stanton, of Ky., addressed the meeting. There were no disturbance beyond the usual interruptions of such gatherings. The theme of each speaker was laudation of the Democratic party and bitter condemnation of the whigs and Know-Nothing. It was apparent that a large portion of those were present were opposed to the object of the meeting, and when the regular meeting adjourned a counter-meeting was quietly organized and addressed by Capt. Cutter of Ky., and Capt. Carrington, of this city. Their remarks were received with much enthusiasm. There appeared but little diminution in the last number in the hall during the last meeting, and after voting to adjourn to Tuesday evening, the vast crowd quietly retired.

READING THE FUTURE BY THE PAST.—There is a truth made memorable by unvarying history, that no ism, no faction, ever reared its head in this country that is not hostile to the democratic party. And why? Because in every instance, with instinctive sagacity, the democratic party denounces all sins. Look at the long procession of factions which have arisen from the disappointments of politicians, like deadly miasma from decaying vegetation, and, like the pestilence itself, have succeeded in prostrating many a true and heroic defender of the truth.

Against each the democratic party raised its stalwart arm, and, after a brief struggle, each has been consigned to merited oblivion. Behold! Hartford conventionists, national republicans, anti-Masons, conservatives, Native Americans, abolitionists, ultra temperance men, and now intolerant and abolitionists again.

The only antagonist of these factions, as one after another they rose into being, was the democratic party. That was the party of their first and their last hatred—that the target of their poisoned arrows—that the fortress against which their impetuous and their energies were directed. To the whigs each of them became an object of affection no less than of hatred.

And their newly acquired power would last forever, the recuperated democrats regained the field, and resumed their position as the master party, and the constitutional party of this country. One often reads the future in the past.—Washington Union.

THE Hydromagen is a valuable discovery for protecting the feet from damp or cold, and therefore a preventive of many Lung Diseases, without any dangerous wear. The Hydromagen is in the form of sole, and worn inside the boot or shoe. Its medicated character is a powerful antidote to disease.
For gentlemen it will be found agreeable, warm, and healthy, to wear in the coldest or rainiest weather, as the foot cannot become wet if the Hydromagen is in use. Ladies may wear the lightest and loveliest of shoes, and the most indestructible, with impunity, while Consumption, so prevalent among the young of our country, may be thwarted by their general adoption. The Hydromagen, with the following facts:
"I feel to prescribe in a very unhealthy manner; and, sides, are not dangerous wear to pedestrians in icy weather, like iron rubbers. While the latter cause the feet to become extremely cold, the Hydromagen, being this slice of cork prepared, peculiarly placed inside, does not increase the size of the foot, or cause the foot to appear extremely large. The children they are extremely agreeable, as they may engage in exercise with comfort and healthy efforts. Their expense is so slight as to be scarcely mentioned, and those who have tried them and their yearly doctor's bills much diminish their thereby."
As the Hydromagen is becoming more known, its sale is in almost incredible extent. Last year, it was sold in London, Birmingham, Liverpool, Glasgow, Leeds, Dublin, Paris, Antwerp, Hamburg, and Berlin.
The number will far surpass that.
Ask the Faculty their opinion of their value as a preventive for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.
Men's size, per pair, 35 cents.
Ladies' size, per pair, 20 cents.
Boys' and Misses' sizes per pair, 25 cents.
